

Father James Brown - “Welcome Letter”

Dear Friends,

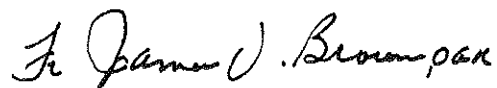

It is with great joy that I welcome you to the TEC Congress in New Orleans. The most important portion of the TEC Movement is the strong sense of community that bonds us together in communion with Christ. The very nature of grace the TEC mediates into our lives demands that we come together from time to time in fraternal love to consider the core values that hold this wonderful family together.

Those who have prepared this Congress have worked hard to focus our gathering in Christ on the key values that enrich our TEC experience and re-affirm our commitment to living in union with the Lord. Like a family reunion it offers us an opportunity to renew our friendships with one another and with Christ.

I wish to compliment you for making time in your lives for this most important event in your spiritual journey. May the Lord richly reward you for willingness to make room for Him and your brothers and sisters in your busy lives.

I shall offer Mass for you during the Congress asking God to bless your efforts to give your hearts to one another and to Christ in this wonderful gathering.

With every good wish and my love,

Father James V. Brown, OAR
Spiritual Director of the TEC Conference
